PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Economic Consultant April, 2020 - August, 2021
Citizen Services Division, Inter-American Development Bank Washington DC
Head of the research: Santiago Perez-Vincent, Ph.D. Econ. Bocconi U.

I worked on several projects concerning the evolution of domestic violence and its characteristics in Latin America. I contributed to the projects in various ways. First, I built working relationships with Latin-American government agencies to obtain access to data. Second, I was responsible for both cleaning and exploring raw data, and subsequent hypothesis testing. Third, I contributed to the design (and impact evaluation) of several Bank's interventions. Fourth, I presented insights to both the Bank and Latin-American agencies. Finally, as a direct product of my work, I co-authored econometric work on the impact of the pandemic.

Publications:

- Perez-Vincent, S. M., Carreras, E., Gibbons, M. A., Murphy, T. E., Rossi, M. A. (2020). COVID-19 Lockdowns and Domestic Violence. IADB Technical Note
- Perez-Vincent, S. M., Carreras, E. (2021). Domestic Violence Reporting during the COVID-19 Pandemic Evidence from Latin America. IADB Working Paper. Upcoming: Accepted for publication in the Review of Economics of the Household.

Research Associate June, 2018 - August, 2021
CENIT Research Center Buenos Aires
Director: Anabel Marín, Ph.D. Science and Tech. Policy Studies Spru U.

Studied opportunities for expanding local communities' participation in the natural resource-based industries' supply chains in Argentina. Traveled throughout the country interviewing small, medium, and large supplier firms on their obstacles, strategies, and vision for the industry's future. Worked on the design of policy recommendations for the Argentine government to exploit growth opportunities in the mining sector. I coordinated three junior assistants.

Publications:

Economic Consultant

IDB Invest, Inter-American Development Bank
Supervisor: Lucas Figal, Senior Economist at IDB Invest

April, 2020 - August, 2021
Buenos Aires

I worked on two research projects related to the study of financial tools for supply chain development. I reviewed literature, and worked on econometric studies on the effect of the Inter-American Development Bank's loans on SMEs.

Working papers:

- Carreras, E., Figal-Garone, L., Stucchi, R. "Credit and employment: Firm-level evidence from Latin America and the Caribbean".
We evaluate the effects of access to credit on firm-level employment, with World Bank's ES data from 19 Latin America and the Caribbean countries.
- Aparicio, G, Carreras, E., Figal-Garone, L. "Reverse Factoring: A financial tool for supply chain development?".
A literature review on the characteristics of reverse factoring and its potential uses in Latin American supply chains.

Research Assistant on Urban Economics

Corporación Andina de Fomento
Head of Research: Guillermo Alves, Ph.D. Econ. Brown U.

April, 2020 - February, 2021
Buenos Aires

Using Geo-Spatial data, I designed and applied methods to generate synthetic census tracts to enable the study of the evolution of slums in Brazilian cities. Performed urban analysis using big datasets such as (Global Human Settlement, OpenStreetMap, etc.). Designed visualizations of Latin-American productivity and its determinants

Advisor to the Head of the Foreign Trade Commission

National Commission For Foreign Trade
Head of the Commission: Juan Carlos Hallak, Ph.D. Econ. Harvard U.

Jan, 2017 - June, 2018
Buenos Aires

Provided policy recommendations for the Ministry of Production, Secretary of Trade and Presidency.

- Designed and led the "Competitiveness Program" to assist Argentine SMEs in overcoming productivity and competitiveness issues.
- Led economic analysis: studied different industrial sectors, forecasted policy impacts on local industry and employment, performed cost-benefit analysis.
- Worked closely with other government areas: cooperated and coordinated with government officials and built consensus for recommendations (Trade, Industry, Productive Transformation, Commission for the Defense of Competition, Quality Certifiers)
- Worked on effective policy communication: Wrote policy briefings, prepared presentations, and presented and defended work to high-ranking public officers from Ministry of Production, Trade and Presidency.
- Worked on internal process improvements: I worked with the Directors to improve anti-dumping research methods and designed a guide for research and case presentations.
